David William Bryan

Writer

Originally from the North of England, David moved to New York City where he trained as an actor at the Stella Adler Studio of Acting. In his last year there, he played Hamlet under the direction of James Tripp, the school's Head of Acting who hailed the performance as 'A triumph.'

Whilst in New York, David began to write monologues for himself and fellow students. On David's return to the UK in 2012, a rehearsed reading was staged at the Hampstead Theatre of his first full length play 'The Stars of Gatz Therman.'

David's second full length play, 'Orion's Hat', showcased at the Tristan Bates Theatre in 2013.

'In Loyal Company', David's most recent play, which he wrote and performed, premiered at Edinburgh Fringe (The Pleasance) in 2018 to four and five star reviews. "Engaging and dynamic.... A fresh sense of humanity" The Stage.

David is currently developing a number of projects for TV.
