

CAITLIN INNES EDWARDS

Writer

Caitlin Innes Edwards is an actress and writer, graduating from The Arts University Bournemouth in 2010. She then went on to study Shakespeare in Performance at the Central School of Speech and Drama.

Over the past few years she has worked as an apprentice to screen writer Caleb Ranson on a number of television and film projects, as well as being a finalist in the Triforce WriterSlam competition, in which a scene from her TV drama 'Old Man of The Mountain' was performed in front of a panel of industry professionals including BBC Drama, ITV and Tiger Aspect.

She has been working closely with a producer for the past four years on a number of projects for screen as well as her own performance work in theatre.
