

Naomi Gibney

Writer and Novelist

Naomi Gibney is a British writer and novelist. She was born in Margate. It was an unfortunate place to start life (chilly, grey, and before The Turner) so her family quickly emigrated to the UAE - a two-year stint that became twenty years - Abu Dhabi then Dubai, Cairo and Kuwait. Naomi has also lived in Japan and France and speaks French and basic Spanish.

Naomi started professional life in Advertising (which was nothing like Mad Men) moving on to senior roles in TV, where she was ultimately responsible for marketing all of the BBC's TV channels, marketing and re-branding all of Sky's TV channels and launching Sky Atlantic, where she became the Channel Controller. She has therefore worked with some of the best writers, directors and producers in the business.

Naomi left Sky in 2014 to become a full-time writer. She has just completed her first novel, UNRESOLVED, which she is also developing as a gripping 8 part factually based mystery drama series, with Bad Wolf. Naomi is currently writing several dramas, both original and factually based.
