Anna McCleery

Writer

Anna McCleery is an award-winning writer for television. Her hit teen detective series THE LADY GRACE MYSTERIES (BBC/ZDF/France TV) was quickly picked up for an extended second season which has just finished filming in Belgium and Durham.

She has multiple projects in active development including an adaptation of the award-winning adventure novel THE GREATEST for Red Monk Studios, an adult murder mystery with Left Bank, and her first graphic novel THE KINGDOM which will be serialised in The Phoenix magazine next year. Previous to this, Anna created the ground-breaking series A KIND OF SPARK for CBBC and BYU (adapted from the beloved novel by Elle McNicoll) which won Royal Television Society and Broadcast awards for Best Children's Programme.

Anna also created, wrote and executive produced the double Emmy winning series FREE REIN for Netflix, with Vicki Lutas. The show ran to three seasons with two film-length specials and has a passionate global following. For her work on FREE REIN, Anna also won Best Children's Episode for "Bob" (S2 Ep7) at the Writer's Guild Awards and Best New Series at the Kidscreen Awards.

She also developed the first fiction book series for the globally successful Rebel Girls brand. SECRET SOCIETY OF REBEL GIRLS is now in development with Lion Forge Entertainment with Anna acting as Lead Writer and Executive Producer.

Anna has a degree in history from King's College, Cambridge.
