

Felix Harrison

Writer

Casarotto
Ramsay
& Associates

Felix is an ambitious and highly cerebral writer, unafraid of exploring large concepts while keeping grounded, emotional themes at the core of his work. His philosophical thriller feature script, 'Far Edge of the World', topped the Brit List in 2016, and is under option with Newscope films. His grounded sci-fi feature 'Star Dream' a metaphysical family drama set in space, has director Bjorn Runge (The Wife) onboard and is with Silver Reel and Newscope. Felix's adaptation of Frederick Forsyth's novel 'The Fourth Protocol' is currently casting, with Pierre Morel (Taken) attached to direct. He has also adapted Kate Hamer's best-selling novel 'The Girl in the Red Coat' for Hilary Bevan Jones at Endor, as well as a feature adaptation of the sci-fi series 'Extracted' for Cavalry Media.

In TV, he is currently adapting 'The Moroccan Girl' by the best-selling author Charles Cumming, for Brillstein Creative Partners and EOne, and an elevated sci-fi series, EXOSOLAR, based on an original concept by prolific writer Peter F Hamilton, with Expanded Media. Aside from his screen work, he co-wrote the award-winning 'Some Like it Hip Hop' for the stage, which recently returned for a tour in 2019, and was the co-creator and co-producer of the West End dance hit 'Into the Hoods'
