

DAVID VANN

Writer

David Vann's debut novel LEGEND OF A SUICIDE has won 10 literary prizes, including the Prix Medicis Etranger in France for best foreign novel. Published in 20 languages, LEGEND OF A SUICIDE is an international bestseller and has also been on 40 Best Books of the Year lists in 11 countries, and selected by the New Yorker Book Club and the Times Book Club. It is now under option with Haut Et Court in Paris being developed as a feature film. David's second novel CARIBOU ISLAND was also an international bestseller, translated into 16 languages and featured on 25 Best Books of the Year lists in 9 countries. The book will be made into a film by Academy Award-winning director Bill Guttentag. David's third novel DIRT was described as "magnificent" by The Sunday Times and was awarded the St. Francis College Literary Prize in 2013. His latest GOAT MOUNTAIN was published in autumn 2013. Publisher's Weekly said of the book: "This flint-hard novel, in its intensity, will likely be compared to the work of Cormac McCarthy."
